

Cut document turnaround times and streamline business processes

With signNow for Salesforce, you can speed up creating and redlining actionable documents, increase revenue, build trust with customers, and close deals faster — all without leaving your Salesforce account.

Save time generating actionable documents

Generate templates for price lists, business proposals, and quotes, and use them as many times as needed. Set up fields and contact information to be automatically pre-filled with Salesforce data (such as names, addresses and account details).

Ensure seamless contract redlining and drafting

Allow all contract parties to review, redline and electronically sign on any device in the Salesforce environment they're already working in. Add multiple signers, assign roles, and define the order in which a contract has to be signed.

Create online fillable forms in no time

Upload an agreement or contract to Salesforce and easily turn it into a fillable form. Drag and drop text, dropdowns, checkboxes, date/time and signature fields, and place them anywhere on the page. Easily set up conditional routing (no coding, we promise) and collect payments and signatures all in one form.

Collect in-person signatures on your mobile device

Instantly collect an in-person signature right on your tablet with Kiosk Mode. signNow for Salesforce provides a full set of features for both Android or iOS smartphones and tablets.

Complete documents even while out of the office

Manage your document workflows from anywhere. You can fill and sign documents that are pending your approval even while offline. All changes made are saved in the app and automatically synced when you are back online.

Automatically update Salesforce records

Create intelligent contracts inside Salesforce and connect fillable fields with Salesforce records. Once a user has added their data, it is immediately transferred to the designated Salesforce record or used to create a new one.

Track the status of your documents in Salesforce

Gain full control over documents by monitoring changes and setting document expiration dates and reminders. Automatic notifications ensure you are on track with important documents that need to be completed and signed.

Easily download signed documents

Download signed contracts and agreements directly to your device or cloud storage right from your Salesforce account. View the document's entire editing history by downloading the document Audit Trail file.
